WEATHER

Zero temperatures are general this morning in the Territories, attended by local snow flurries in the southern parts of Alberta and Assiniboia. Continued cold weather is indicated with zero temperature for Manitoba and a severe storm is now in sight in British Columbia, promising a general snowfall spreading over the Territories.

NOTICE TO REED CONTROL ACT

A copy of bulletin No. 15, entitled "Bill No. 290, reprinted as amended: Am Act Respecting the Inspection and Sale of Seeds with Explanations and Comments," has been received. This pamphlet is issued for general distribution for the purpose of serving as a notice to the interested public, and also to provide means for closer study of the Bill in its relation to the operations of seed producers, seed merchants and seed consumers. The Bill as amended by the Committee of the House during the recent session of Parliament, provides that seeds of cereals, grasses, clovers or forage plants which contain the seeds of certain noxious weeds named in the Bill, will be prohibited from sale. It further provides for uniform methods of grading, according to fixed standards of purity and vitality, the timothy, alfalfa, and red clover seeds offered for sale in Canada.

A copy of the pamphlet may be had free on application to the seed division, branch of the commissioner of agriculture and dairying, Ottawa. Letters addressed as above do not require postage.

—Plainsdealer.—Mr. R. E. Stage, formerly of L. Kinnear, and Company's wholesale grocery in Toronto, and lately with Ross Bros., Limited, in Edmonton, has accepted a position as manager of Sugarman and Company's grocery department. Mr. Stage was one of Edmonton's best football players last season, and Edmonton's loss will be Strathcona's gain in athletics.

LOCAL.

—Train left Red Deer on time.
—Rev. Prof. Riddell will preach in the Strathcona Baptist church tomorrow morning.

—Weather: Yesterday maximum temperature 10. Today minimum temperature, 3 below.

—James McGeorge, Edmonton, has been appointed a commissioner for taking affidavits.

—M. J. McLeod, Lacombe, has recently disposed of his large general store there to Burdick Bros.

—Commencing Monday morning the Edmonton public schools' assembly at nine thirty o'clock for the winter months.

—Pollard Bros., Strathcona, have received the machinery for their new brick drying plant and are having it installed.

—Making Your Mark in the World, will be the subject of Pastor McDonald's address on Sunday evening at the Baptist church.

—Kelly and Beals shipped a handsome phonograph to Messrs. Peterson & Company, Fort Elizabeth, South Africa, yesterday. The phonograph was made entirely at Kelly and Beals' establishment on Queens avenue and is a handsome carriage.

—The loose ice which has been floating down the river for the past few days, jammed up near the bridge yesterday and to-day the river except in a few places is frozen over. As yet, however, there is no solid ice. The smaller creeks and sloughs in the district are frozen over.

—Neil Munro, in the Glasgow Evening News: "Edmonton is a town of importance. The northern terminus of the railway system of the continent, the wholesale centre and supply point for the Mackenzie river basin, a region of nearly two thousand miles from north to south, by eight hundred from east to west, it is more alive and alert than any other town of its size in this kingdom knowing that the tide of fortune is at its feet."

—Chas. E. Morris, hardware merchant, of Lacombe, spent yesterday in Edmonton ordering a supply of goods from a couple of our hardware establishments. Mr. Morris has not been in Edmonton since '92, and naturally he found Edmonton very considerably changed. From a small hamlet to a large and progressive city is a startling change and Mr. Morris found it to far exceed his greatest expectations. Business is brisk in Lacombe and the town has improved wonderfully the past season. As an index to the growth of Lacombe, Mr. Morris mentioned that there were now over two hundred pupils in daily attendance at the school. Mr. Morris returned south this morning.

PERSONAL

H. B. Anderson left for his home in Leduc this morning.

W. W. Sharp arrived in Edmonton last night from Wetaskiwin.

John A. McDougall has been very ill for the past week and is being confined to his house.

J. K. Kennedy, of Kennedy and Hyndman, left for Montreal yesterday on a visit to his home.

Miss Brown, who has been visiting her brother, J. C. F. Brown, returned to her home in Brantford yesterday morning.

EGG LAKE

The weather department (not a branch of the Territorial Government) which has been creating so many difficulties for the Department of Public Works during the past six months, as well as for the local improvement districts, has at last turned round and is now devoting its energies to improving the roads. During the last few days all the mud holes have been fixed, and little now remains to be done except to finish bridging a few creeks. Later on, a day or so devoted now and then to laying a few inches of snow will complete the job till spring.

Last Monday the final quacking of the "summer boarders" was heard from the lake, which is now entirely frozen over. The noise of the ice splitting could be heard for a considerable distance during the last three days and a few more nights of frost will make it sound enough to travel over.

Work on the new church has advanced so far that there is to be mass there next Sunday.

A party of Edison people passed Wednesday night at Logan's. As the road is now frozen up this will be their route to town during the rest of the season.

Some really good oats are being threshed here, but the wheat is not up to the mark. Some of it may make good flour, but the yield is very light.

Nov. 13th.

DRIVING CLUB.

Edmonton Horsemen Will Have an Excellent Winter Speedway.

A large number of local horsemen held a very successful meeting in the Alberta hotel on Thursday evening. The meeting was called for the purpose of organizing a driving club. Several days ago the city council was petitioned to set aside Fraser avenue from Fourth street to Rat Creek for a winter speedway. The council granted the request provided the petitioners put the track in order and erect suitable warnings. At Thursday night's meeting a speedway committee was appointed to have the track and the turn at Rat Creek put in good order. The following officers were elected:

President, C. Gallagher.
Secretary Treasurer, J. I. Miller.
Speedway committee: Chas. May, D. Robertson, J. B. Lubbock, D. Stewart and W. Reid.

The track is three-quarters of a mile in length, is centrally located and when put into shape will make an excellent speedway. All heavy rigs will be shut off from the street. The track will be kept repaired and in good condition. The club has a present membership of forty and many more will join.

The speedway should encourage horsemen to have good drivers and will tend to create an interest in good horses. The driving club invites its Edmonton and Strathcona friends to make use of the speedway for light driving.

EDMONTON AND THE NORTH

Under the above heading, Neil Munro, one of the British editors who visited Canada last summer, writes as follows in his paper, the Glasgow Evening News:

"We found in Edmonton still another town serenely confident of being the one and only Canadian Chicago when the great wheat belt is populated to its ultimate acre. The railway north from Calgary to Edmonton roughly marks the western limit of the present Saskatchewan Valley immigration, whose eastern bounds, as I have said before, are loosely represented by the railway north to Prince Albert. It is a C. P. R. line about 200 miles in length; the train on which we travelled to the terminus puffed north leisurely, as if reluctant to lose sight of the Rockies looming large to our left, vague, phantom sierras touched at their tips with everlasting snow; we crawled past little towns so new that the shavings of them yet blew about the streets, descended the Red Deer River Valley, traversing the reserves of Indian tribes, and, after eleven hours, came upon Edmonton, coked high upon a cut bank on the northern side of the Saskatchewan River. I retain more pleasant impressions of the Edmonton district than of any other part of Western Canada. It is the most northerly town in the New World, except the communities of the Yukon; its back doors open on the Great Lone Lands as they are today, though tomorrow the steam thrasher shall assuredly invade them, driving the fur trader further north. Edmonton town has inter alia a population of 5,500, eight hotels, twenty real estate offices, seven churches, twelve doctors, fourteen friendly societies, eight lawyers, one brewery, and the first bath we had discovered for nearly a fortnight. Under the influence of the bath, I fancy we saw Edmonton in a sort of glamour. Nowhere else did the park-like scenery of the west look more attractive, more English; from its highest point the river, the town, the surrounding country, the winding water, richly wooded valley and emerald fields as fine in its way as that to be seen from the Star and Garter at Richmond. Nature could not do more for Edmonton, and it man could only endow it with better roads, it would, in summer at all events, be something of a mundane Paradise. These were our first impressions, and after riding almost knee-deep for many miles on the Calgary and Athabasca trails that were Edmonton's only routes to the outer world before the railway came, the impression abides with me. It seemed as if the old Hudson Bay pioneers who first set their stockade feet on this bold bluff above the turbid yellow waters of a noble river, must have had some eye to the picturesque as well as strategic considerations, of the best place for collecting pelts. "And nowhere else were the old Canada and the new brought before us in such remarkable contiguity. Edmonton is a town of importance. The northern terminus of the railway system of the continent, the wholesale centre and supply point for the Mackenzie river basin, a region of nearly two thousand miles from north to south, by eight hundred from east to west, it is more "alive" and alert than any town of its size in this Kingdom, knowing that the tide of fortune is at its feet; and yet it is the jumping off place for the wilds—the last outpost, so far, of civilization. Behind (and part of) a handsome warehouse, laden with dry goods, furniture and fashionable millinery, you found a shedful of undressed furs brought by trappers and traders it might be a distance of one thousand miles. Close by is the shop of the "official" photographer of the Klondyke and Arctic circles; there are gold-weighting scales on the shop counters and in all the banks, for the precious dust washed from the Saskatchewan river sand, or the nugget from the Yukon, is currency here. Edmonton is lighted by electricity and has two newspapers: in the river at its feet men wash gold from the black sand, and you can hear the song of the voyager as he poles his York boat home after months of adventure on river and portage. The Great Dipper his only compass. I should choose to live in it myself if I were a settler. We went twenty miles down the river on a naphtha launch, and the more we saw of it the more we liked it. It appeared a fascinating river, that it not only gives 10s. to a day to anyone who cares to come down to its black sand and wash out gold, but shows plain to view on its sides the water washed, seven feet deep of excellent coal that is sold in the town at three dollars a ton. I do not desire to lay much stress on the gold, nor even on the coal, as permanently valuable assets to Edmonton, but its fur trade—now said to be worth £200,000 to £500,000 a year—seems secure for generations to come and its agricultural possibilities are beyond question. "Nor must it be concealed that, in the opinion of other parts of the West, the price of land in Edmonton is quite as high as it ought to be. At one time Edmonton expected to be on the direct line of the Canadian Pacific Railway; it experienced a boom in 1882, as Winnipeg did, and in a single day its hopes and fortunes were humbled in the dust, but there has always been a great faith in its future, and land companies and speculators have consistently waited their time. It must be agreed that a town that could survive the disappointment of being left 200 miles off the line of railway for seven years and then ten years of effort by the railway company to build up a rival, must have within or about it the essential elements of success under ordinary modern conditions. This has been taken for granted to such an extent that both the Canadian Pacific Railway and the Canadian Northern Railway surveys, although they cross the Saskatchewan at points below, are deflected into Edmonton. But for a distance of twenty miles in all directions from Edmonton the free homestead land has been taken and the Canadian Pacific lands purchased. All of this land is not actually occupied, and of what is occupied, only a part is cultivated; but occupation and cultivation are increasing every year, and within this distance there are now all the advantages of an advanced civilization—roads, schools, churches, post offices, mills, telegraph or telephone services. Twenty miles out of Edmonton there are millions of acres of land that are free or cost comparatively little. Improved farms—that is to say, farms already under cultivation, more or less—are to be had in the Vermilion, Stoney Plain, Sturgeon River and Fort Saskatchewan, Agriola and Clover Bar districts at prices ranging from five dollars to twenty dollars an acre, and unimproved farms in the same districts for from five dollars to eight dollars per acre—the soil generally a black mold two to three feet in depth. At Strathcona, on the opposite side of the river from Edmonton I saw oats running 80 bushels to the acre; but it would be a singularly credulous observer who would accept that as the average yield. "It seems to some extent upon the problem of labor in the Edmonton district, and may interest the prospective settler to know that at Edmonton we saw, advertised for on the boardings, 500 men to work on the Canadian Pacific Railway, Calgary Division, laborers to get $1.75 to $2 per day; bridge builders and house carpenters, $2.75 to $3 per day, work guaranteed all the year round. These were apparently not sufficient inducement for the Galicians to engage in the neighborhood of Edmonton. We saw a large party of them—some of them had come across the Atlantic with us—constructing a raft on which to float down the river towards the district more particularly favored by these colonists from Little Russia. There are said to be now 12,000 to 15,000 of the Galicians in the Saskatchewan Valley—good settlers, but bringing a sectarian problem with them not easy of solution. They are at home adherents of the Greek Orthodox church; here the Roman Catholics are inclined to claim them, but most of them abide in the faith they had at home. The Galician abandons his sheepskin garments more readily than his religion, and in a twelve-month after girls from Galicia reach Edmonton quaintly costumed in their native habiliments, and utterly ignorant of English, they make excellent servant maids, wear the customary clothes of Mary Ann, and talk good English. They provide, indeed, the only solution to the domestic servant problem in this part of the West. "On the Calgary trail we saw more signs of the invasion from the United States; in one case twenty-eight prairie wagons from Texas, which had been on the trek for six weeks. The farmers thus flitting north were Presbyterian, and they rested on Sundays, holding services. Their stock and their implements and all their household goods and gear accompanied them. Along the line from Calgary there are now over 16,000 Scandinavians, who came from the United States, and as has been mentioned before, no small proportion of the exodus from the States is composed of families, which by birth and breeding are really Canadian, and returning to their native land."

CAUSE OF THE DELAY

In last Monday's issue of the Bulletin our Beaver Lake correspondent in complaining of the irregular delivery of mail matter asked why it was that Monday's Semi-Weekly Bulletin is not received the week it is published. The Fort Saskatchewan postmaster informs us that the mail for Beaver Lake and for all eastern points is made up in Fort Saskatchewan, Tuesday morning, to catch the stage which leaves at seven a. m. Monday's Bulletin does not reach the Fort until Tuesday noon.

JOE MARTIN MAY RUN

Vancouver, B.C., Nov. 9.—Although signally defeated at the late general election, and although thereafter he voluntarily went upon record as "out of politics forever," Mr. Joseph Martin shows many signs of a successful resumption and if he can secure the party nomination will be in the field to oppose the return of Hon. Chas. Wilson, who comes back to his constituents in Vancouver on the 16th (next Monday) in consequence of having accepted the attorney-generalship, the election being on the subsequent Wednesday. It cannot be gainsaid that the defeat of Mr. Martin and announced withdrawal from politics, was hailed with rejoicing, courteously expressed among the Liberals throughout the province, the party being since united under Mr. MacDonald, as it has not been since Mr. Martin's advent in British Columbia. His present reappearance is therefore viewed with not altogether friendly eyes, threatening as it does again to split the party and provoke new irritations, which it had been hoped were buried. The only alternative appears to be letting the by-election go by default, for Mr. Martin's friends are seemingly determined that it shall be Martin or no one.

2 YEARS AGO

The Saskatchewan Herald, Battleford, is publishing items clipped from its files of twenty-five years ago. Among the items clipped from the issue of October 7th, 1878, appear the following:

"A private letter says: Six years ago very little land was cultivated at Edmonton outside of that upon the Hudson's Bay Company's farm. While this year, according to Father Ledue, of St. Albert's mission, who is good authority, there are over thirty thousand bushels of grain raised around Edmonton. Mr. J. R. Manning of the C. M. Church, who was removed from Edmonton to Pigeon Lake last spring, has been removed from there to Fort McLeod to establish a mission there. "The new Episcopal church at Edmonton was opened on Sunday, 15th. Rev. Dr. Newton held a mixed service in Cree and English in the morning, which was well attended, the church being filled to overflowing. It is a neat edifice, and will cost, when finished, besides a great deal of gratuitous labor on the part of the church wardens and others, about $2,500."

SOUTH AFRICA SUPPLIES

Ottawa, Nov. 9.—The Dominion government has just received from the Imperial war office copies of forms of tender for the supply of bread, forage, groceries and meat to the troops in South Africa. Under the title "Bread," are included bread, flour, yeast and baking powder. Under "forage" alfalfa, mealies, mealie, oat hay, oats, bran, rock salt, linseed, sulphur, green fodder and dry grass for bedding. Under "groceries," coffee, tea, chocolate, sugar, salt and pepper. Under "meat," fresh meat and frozen or refrigerated meat. Tenders must be received at Pretoria by Jan. 19, 1904. Further particulars may be had on application to Mr. W. W. Moore, chief markets division, department of agriculture, Ottawa.

NORWOOD.

What is the Matter With Norwood?

NORWOOD

Norwood is all right or we would have nothing to do with it; as we believe in Edmonton so we do in Norwood. Therefore if Edmonton is all right so is Norwood.

There is No Doubt About Edmonton's Future

it is destined to become the great Metropolis of the Territories. This is a recognized fact and generally admitted now by everyone. The present prosperity is truly unexampled but as it has been slow in coming so will it be slow in departing.

For all the labor, capital and railroad equipment which can possibly be obtained the West will furnish a demand for years to come, all heading toward Edmonton, the Storehouse of the West—giving us direct and shorter routes to the East and opening up new markets for us in the farther West.

The Canadian Northern expects to reach Edmonton inside of two years, the Grand Trunk Pacific about the same time or not long after and the Canadian Pacific expects to beat them both. All these roads will have branch lines running out from Edmonton in all directions, in fact surveys for the branch lines are now under way. This means business for EDMONTON. It means increased growth and population. It means money will be made by the prudent and wise ones who invest some money in

NORWOOD LOTS NOW.

This is the most desirable property on the market today as well as the cheapest. It has the most commanding view of the Town is nearer the C. N. R. station Grounds and expected to be still nearer the Grand Trunk Pacific than any other properties outside the Town limits.

There are no less than three bridges across Rat Creek to accommodate the traffic which goes through Norwood, all roads from Edmonton North go through Norwood.

Norwood is the Northern Entrance to Edmonton and Norwood to the great highway leading out of Edmonton. There is ten times more traffic through Norwood than over any other road to Edmonton. Edmonton is already built right out to Rat Creek the boundary line.

The Actual Business Growth of the Town is Northward and each of the several streets leading North is looked upon by its property owners as going to be the Yonge street of Edmonton, the great business street North. No matter which it is they are all heading for Norwood and as Edmonton prospers so will Norwood.

Now is the Time to Buy.

The Lots are from $40 to $150; One Quarter Cash, balance in Three Equal Annual Payments at 8 per cent.

The great Horace Greeley said "Young Men go West" and the great Russell Sage said "Young Men buy Real Estate it is the safest and best investment you can make."
